Visualizing

the past year's plumbing progress

As truly a part of Iowa's progress as its improved farms and growing industries are its more comfortable, attractive, better equipped dwellings. As the fair exhibits visualize for you agricultural, industrial, and social progress of the state, the permanent exhibit at the Crane Exhibit Rooms, 1440 Walnut Street, Des Moines, visualizes comfort-giving, labor-saving, health-protecting improvements in plumbing for city and farm.

State fair visitors are cordially invited to call at these Exhibit Rooms. They will be interested in the latest types of fixtures, valves, and fittings; automatic gas water heaters, water softeners, and automatic water systems that put city plumbing at the service of village and farm.

Courteous helpful Crane men will give every attention and all information. About purchase and installation, consult a responsible plumbing contractor near your own residence.

ANNOUNCEMENT

It is with a feeling of genuine pride that the State of Iowa presents to the nation this summer her seventy-fourth Annual Iowa State Fair and Exposition. Many who have viewed the advance plans assert that it is the most pretentious showing of agricultural and industrial wealth that has been assembled thus far in the midwest. While directors of the exposition do not wish to venture so far as to make this broad statement they do feel that in presenting the State Fair of 1928 they are offering to the public probably the most completely rounded display of Iowa's vast resources that the state has ever gathered together at any one time and place.

The effort back of this year's exposition has been toward making it as nearly possible a complete cross-section of the state's resources and accomplishments. Agriculture as Iowa's greatest industry receives the major share of attention as it should, but other important fields such as manufacturing, education, health, women's activities and boys and girls' work have likewise been accorded an important place both on the programs and in the allotment of exhibit space. In the educational as well as the entertainment arrangements the effort of the State Fair Board has been directed toward providing a program which will appeal to every age and every taste.

In preparing this year's exposition it is realized that the record-breaking mark established by the Iowa State Fair in 1927 set a goal both in attendance and exhibits which will be difficult to exceed. With the largest paid attendance of any 8-day fair in the United States and likewise the largest cash premiums, the exposition last year was phenomenal in many respects. Yet, if favorable weather prevails, it is believed that even this exceptional record may be exceeded this season.

In the following pages will be found a brief description of the leading features of the 1928 exposition, together with complete daily programs of events and other interesting information helpful to the visitor in preparing to make the most of his trip to the fair. A most cordial welcome is herewith extended by the Iowa State Fair Board to the many thousands of visitors who will be the guests of the fair during the 1928 season. Every effort has been made to provide here an ideal outing for persons of every age and every taste.

J. P. MULLEN, FONDA.

NATIONAL LIVESTOCK SHOW.

The National Livestock Show which has served in past years to give the Iowa State Fair a reputation from coast to coast is again this year probably one of the outstanding attractions of the exposition. In numbers it comprises something over 6,000 head of horses, cattle, swine, and sheep, and in scope it embraces herds from some of the country's most famous breeding farms and hailing from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast. The Iowa State Fair has earned the title of "The World's Greatest Agricultural and Livestock Fair," and no visitor should fail to spend as many hours as possible in surveying the thousands of splendid animals in this great livestock show.

Probably the most outstanding single feature of this department is the group of entries by Iowa boy and girl farmers, comprising a total of more than 1,000 head of calves, pigs, and sheep, in addition to a large number of entries in the poultry department.

A special building just inside the south entrance on Rock Island Avenue is given over entirely to the boys and girls' baby beef and dairy calf show in which more than 600 animals raised by these junior farmers are on display. The boys and girls' pigs are shown in the Swine Pavilion and the sheep in the Sheep Barn.

A. R. COREY, DES MOINES.
Secretary Iowa State Fair and National Live Stock Show.

The public is invited to witness the judging in the numerous livestock classes which will be in progress almost continuously from Friday, August 24, through Thursday, August 30. Free seating accommodations are provided in the livestock judging pavilion for the convenience of spectators.

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Ranking on a par with the Livestock Show in its importance is the extensive Agricultural Exposition which centers in the Agricultural and Horticultural Building. Here the visitor will find assembled displays showing the finest products of Iowa's fields, gardens, and orchards from every district in the state. Special attention is directed to the series of county agricultural displays and exhibits by individual farms, the group of seven county-wide farm bureau project exhibits showing the leading activities of Iowa's farm bureaus during the last year and the Horticultural Exposition comprising fruits, flowers and edible nuts exhibited by growers from all parts of the state. Other important features situated in the Agricultural Building include the Culinary Show located on the south balcony, the Midwest Gladiolus Show forming a gorgeous centerpiece on the ground floor, and the Statewide Tall Corn Contest on the balcony.

IOWA DAIRY SHOW.

Another noteworthy exhibit in the Agricultural Building is the Iowa Dairy Exposition which will be found on the north balcony. This event shows graphically the wonderful strides which Iowa dairy interests have made during recent years and gives to the public a vivid picture of the many fields now covered by present-day dairy science. The show is sponsored jointly by the Iowa Department of Agriculture, Iowa State College, the State and National Dairy Councils, the Iowa Creamery Association and the Iowa State Fair Board. Of special interest in this section is the exhibit devoted to the famous "Iowa Brand Butter," the display taking up the nutritive value of dairy products, the demonstration of butter, cheese, and ice-cream making and the giant statue at the entrance to the show which is carved entirely from Iowa butter.

THE FARM BUREAU.

The Iowa Farm Bureau Federation in cooperation with the State Fair Board has arranged this season a very helpful series of exhibits which are especially worthy of examination by the farmer interested in better agricultural methods and better farm home conditions. It comprises two main sections. The first section which is housed in the Agricultural Building presents a series of seven exhibits which have been arranged by the men's farm bureaus of seven different counties showing projects which they have carried out during the past year for the betterment of farm production and improved methods of farm marketing. The second section is housed in the Women's Building and embraces twenty-six project exhibits showing work carried on by the women's farm bureaus of twenty-six different counties during the past year. Each of these exhibits is attended by a representative of the county in which the work was conducted so that visitors may ask questions and obtain accurate information about the planning of the project and the benefits derived from it. The twenty-six women's exhibits are largely devoted to subjects of home making and improvement of rural living conditions.

The Farm Bureau Federation is also maintaining a general headquarters tent on the fair grounds situated just east of the livestock pavilion. All Farm Bureau visitors are requested to call at this tent and register. During the fair a series of conferences will be held here on important federation subjects. The Farm Bureau camp as in past years is located just inside the south entrance to the main camp grounds and each county in the state has been allocated a special section in this area. A Farm Bureau Camp Headquarters is maintained under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Chapman of Ames.

Special attention is called to the Farm Bureau Day program which will be held on Monday, August 27, in the large Assembly Tent east of the Stock Pavilion. The program includes addresses on agricultural subjects by several nationally known leaders.

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE EXHIBIT.

One of the most interesting agricultural features of the fair and likewise one of the most profitable from the standpoint of the farmer is an exhibit arranged by the United States Department of Agriculture which will be found just inside the main entrance to the Cattle Barn. This exhibit covers the subjects of dairying, livestock feeding and management, roads, and forestry. The displays brought to the fair by these government authorities represent the experience of thousands of farmers and combine the best judgment of the nation's foremost authorities on the subjects considered. Experts from the United States Department of Agriculture will be on duty with this exhibit during the entire State Fair period and will be glad to answer questions and render every assistance possible to interested visitors.

U. S. SHIPPING BOARD EXHIBIT.

Another governmental display which is well worth visiting is the exhibit covering the work of the U. S. Shipping Board and the United States Merchant Marine which will be found on the balcony of the Agricultural Building. Among the features of this display is a longitudinal section of the giant steamship Leviathan showing the interior of the vessel from the engine rooms to the upper deck. Continuous motion pictures of Shipping Board activities and U. S. ships on the high seas are also provided, together with numerous other interesting attractions.

F. E. SHELDON, MT. AYR.

Treasurer Iowa State Fair and National Live Stock Show.

EDUCATIONAL EXPOSITION.

The Iowa State Fair presents this summer the largest showing of Iowa's educational resources and the work of her universities, colleges and public schools that has ever been brought together thus far at any one place in the state. This is made possible by the splendid new Educational Building which was completed in 1927 under a special appropriation of the state legislature. The building itself has been characterized by architects' and visiting exposition officials as the most beautiful structure of its type to be found on any fair grounds in this country.

The ground floor of the building is given over to displays by the State University of Iowa, Iowa State College, State Teachers' College, the State Board of Control, the School for the Blind, School for the Deaf, Iowa State Highway Commission, and Boys and Girls' Club Work.

On the second floor are the exhibits by the public schools of the state, Iowa's leading independent and denominational colleges, a number of the states better-known welfare institutions and the annual Iowa Art exhibit. The art exhibit in addition to the works of Iowa students comprises likewise a special loan exhibit from the New York National Academy of Design, embracing the canvases of many of America's best known painters.

With the construction of this new Educational Building, the Iowa State Fair is likewise now able to provide much larger Amphitheater seating accommodations than ever before. The north side of the building contains a grand stand with a seating capacity for more than 12,250 spectators.

INDUSTRIAL AND MACHINERY SHOW.

Approximately forty acres have been set aside in the State Fair grounds this year for the exhibition of all the newest developments in farm machinery and home conveniences. This provides an ideal opportunity for the person interested in any of these fields to make first hand comparison of the various products being offered and to see these products in actual operation. The central feature of this show is Machinery Hall which is given over largely to the mid-season motor show and home conveniences of all kinds. The open-air tract adjoining Machinery Hall chiefly features exhibits of larger types of equipment such as silos, tractors, and heavier machinery for farm and industrial purposes.

MID-SEASON MOTOR SHOW.

As mentioned in the preceding paragraph one of the outstanding exhibits in Machinery Hall is the annual Mid-Season Motor Show conducted by the Iowa State Fair Board in cooperation with America's leading automobile manufacturers. This show comprises something over 100 models of automobiles, trucks and tractors, with particular attention to many of the new 1928 and 1929 motor car creations which appear in this show for the first time in Iowa. The public is most cordially invited to view this splendid exposition, as it is one of the most attractive features of the entire fair.

IOWA WILD LIFE EXHIBIT.

Almost directly opposite the Machinery Hall on Grand Avenue are situated the beautiful new buildings recently constructed by the state at an expense of $40,000 in which are housed the exhibits of Iowa wild life. Under the supervision of the State Fish and Game Department there have been assembled here all types of birds, fish, and wild animals native to Iowa. The aquariums alone contain more than 5,000 living fish displayed in such a way that the public can view them in surroundings closely approximating their natural living conditions. Special moving picture programs are also provided free of charge showing the work which Iowa is doing to preserve her fish and game.

IOWA AIRCRAFT SHOW.

With the exceptional interest in aviation which is being manifested universally this year, every fair visitor will find it extremely worth while to devote several hours to the first annual Iowa Aircraft Exposition, which is presented through the cooperation of the State Fair Board with some of the country's best known aircraft manufacturers. The Aircraft Show is situated directly north of the race track and directly south of the State Fair Aviation Field. It is most conveniently reached from Grand Avenue by a special walk which runs along north of the race track directly to the Aircraft Show tents. The show itself comprises a series of most interesting attractions. The first of these is the extensive array of many different types and sizes of aircraft ranging from giant multi-motored planes to the smallest single-seated models. One may obtain here a comprehensive idea of the many fields which aircraft manufacture is entering and of the wide choice now afforded to the prospective purchaser in selecting a plane. Particular attention is called to the famous Lockheed-Vega ship owned by Captain Sir George H. Wilkins, the noted polar explorer. This is the same plane in which Captain Wilkins and Lieut. Eielson made their famous flight across the top of the world last spring from Point Barrow, Alaska, to Spitzbergen, Norway.

Immediately adjoining the Aircraft Show, in a special tent, Captain Wilkins himself will present each day a series of lectures on his experiences during his record making polar flight and will show the intensely interesting motion picture reels which he took while flying over the Arctic region. As a climax of his visit to the Iowa State Fair, Captain Wilkins each afternoon will fly his Lockheed-Vega plane in a series of aerial demonstrations in front of the amphitheater.

Another unusual feature of the Aircraft Show is the huge captive observation balloon piloted by Captain R. J. Walters. This balloon is anchored immediately to the east of the Aircraft Show tent and will make continuous ascensions during the period of the fair, taking up passengers throughout each day. Each afternoon captain Walters and his assistants will present a series of startling air features in connection with their balloon maneuvers.

On the Aviation Field a number of plane manufacturers will have special demonstration models which will take up passengers during the period of the fair, and those desiring to take a ride over the fair grounds may make arrangements to do so by calling at the field headquarters at any time during the day.

STATE BOARD OF CONTROL.

Two special exhibits are presented this year by the Iowa State Board of Control. A display of the work being carried on by the fifteen different institutions operated by this board is situated at the east end of the ground floor of the new Educational Building. This comprises fancy work, shoes, cabinet making, and other articles which are manufactured by patients and inmates who are under the care and supervision of the board. Another exhibit which will particularly appeal to the farm visitors is the splendid herd of dairy cattle from hospitals and welfare institutions, which is being shown by the board in the Cattle Barn.

ART EXHIBIT.

The works of some of the state's best known professional and amateur artists are presented to the public this year in the new Art Gallery which is situated on the mezzanine floor of the new Educational Building. More than $600 in cash prizes will be paid to Iowa artists in the statewide competition which is being conducted in connection with this exhibition. The display includes all types of work, such as oils, water colors, pen and ink, charcoal, pencil and decorative designing. In a special section of the gallery is a splendid loan exhibit sent to the fair by the National Academy of Design of New York City comprising the works of America's foremost painters. These latter pictures will be for sale to any desiring to make purchases.

BOYS AND GIRLS' 4-H CLUB CONGRESS.

An annual feature of the Iowa State Fair which has been growing probably more rapidly both in size and in attractiveness to the general public is the Iowa Boys and Girls' 4-H Club Congress. This year between 1,500 and 2,000 boys and girls from the farms of Iowa are present at the Iowa State Fair to participate in a series of contests and exhibits which feature this event. The Iowa State Fair Board is offering more than $13,000 in prizes for this department.

Fair visitors will find demonstrations, judging contests, and other competitions in progress in this branch almost continuously throughout the entire period of the exposition. The department comprises three main branches:

The Boys and Girls' Livestock Show, the exhibit and demonstration contests, and the judging contests, both for individuals and teams. The livestock show embraces entries of more than 1,000 baby beeves, dairy calves, pigs and sheep in addition to a large number of poultry entries—all of which have been raised by junior farmers of the state. The demonstration contests cover the most important subjects in which club work has been done in the past year such as farm records, clothing, soil improvement, home betterment, etc. These demonstrations will be conducted in the special boys and girls' section on the ground floor of the Educational Building each morning and afternoon. The judging contests both for individuals and for county teams cover such subjects as livestock, corn, and farm produce. These take place largely in the livestock pavilion and the public is invited to witness them without charge of any kind.

Dormitories for boys and girls participating in the 4-H Club Congress are furnished free of charge by the Iowa State Fair Board, and a special dining hall is maintained by the fair, at which contestants may obtain wholesome food at actual cost. The ushering in the grandstand, both for the afternoon and evening programs, is being carried on by selected members from boys' 4-H Clubs in various parts of the state.

JUDGING EVENTS.

The general public is invited to take advantage of the opportunity of witnessing the judging of the numerous classes which feature the National Livestock Show. Free seating accommodations are provided, both in the livestock pavilion and in the open air judging ring immediately east of the street car entrance. Boys and girls' classes will be judged in the stock pavilion on Friday and Saturday, August 24 and 25. Open classes in the general livestock departments will be judged on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, August 27 to 30, inclusive. Horses will be judged in the morning, and cattle will be judged in the afternoon in the stock pavilion. Swine will be judged both mornings and afternoons in the Swine Pavilion and sheep in the Sheep Barn. On Friday, August 24, and Saturday, August 25, the poultry classes will be judged in the Poultry Building. Agricultural and other classes will be judged in the various buildings in which these exhibits are situated.

Society Horse Show classes will be judged in connection with the Society Horse Shows which will be held in the Livestock Pavilion on four nights beginning Monday, August 27. Ponies and a few other show horse events will be judged in the open air ring east of the street car entrance.

IOWA STATE COLLEGE EXHIBIT.

Eighteen departments of Iowa State College have joined in presenting a comprehensive exhibit by this institution which will be found on the ground floor of the Educational Building. Among the more interesting subjects covered in this display are the following:

Experimental work in crops, dairying, poultry, and soil betterment carried on by the Agricultural Department; animal health studies conducted by the Veterinary Department; the utilization of corn waste materials such as cornstalks and their conversion into valuable commercial products; the advantages of rural electrification demonstrated by the Engineering Experiment Station; the benefits derived from various forms of bacteria in the soil; and the many types of animal pests infesting Iowa and the means of their eradication as shown by the Zoology Department. For the benefit of fair visitors specialists from the college will be on duty with this exhibit each day to answer questions and explain its various features in greater detail.

NOTES ON PROGRAM IN MAIN AUDITORIUM.

Mrs. H. W. Spaulding, Chairman.

We bring to you once more a program devoted to the best interests of the Iowa home. Through this program of lectures, demonstrations, plays and conferences, we hope to create a greater interest in and love for the things that make for a happy contented home life. A love for art and music and recognition of the importance of play and knowing how to keep well and fit through proper exercise. We believe the following persons appearing on the program will give you entertaining and worth while features.

The first hour on the morning program will be under the supervision of the Parent Teacher's Association. The aim of this Association is to surround the childhood of the whole world with wise and loving care in the leisure hours and the impressionable years of life, thus developing good citizens. The program this year consisting of Boy Scout, Camp Fire Girl and the Girl Reserve group work and demonstrations with a demonstration with the Hard of Hearing pupils and two interesting plays will command the interest of both parents and children.

Miss Joanne M. Hansen will demonstrate every morning the Hanging of Pictures in the various rooms in the house giving at the same time helpful talks on the selection of good pictures. Miss Hansen is especially well prepared to make this an interesting and profitable hour. She is at the Head of the Applied Art Department of Iowa State College and a Professor of Home Economics in that institution. She was Chairman of the Related Art section of the American Home Economics Association which met in Des Moines this summer. At the Western Arts Association meeting in Indianapolis this year Miss Hansen was the only woman appearing on the general program. Many women in Iowa and other States have enjoyed her radio talks on pictures, interior furnishings and costumes during the past year. She is a graduate of Pratt Institute of New York and has attended both the Art Institute League and the School of Fine Arts in New York. Many of the prints and pictures which Miss Hansen will use in her demonstrations have been personally selected during her extensive travels abroad.

Mrs. Mignon Quaw Lott, who will appear on the program twice daily, is a writer and lecturer on recreational subjects. She was Recreation Specialist in Montana Agricultural College for several years and has a practical viewpoint. She is a College Graduate and has her Masters Degree from Columbia University. She has worked with Farm Bureau, Grange and Farmers Union and other organizations and is expert in staging of entertainments, plays and programs of all descriptions. Mrs. Lott is well known to Iowa women through her appearance on our Short Courses at Iowa State College. Last year she conducted a series of programs at the State Fair in the Women and Children's Building. She believes in the adage "Learn by Doing." Her lectures are combined with demonstrations and you are converted to the gospel of play by actually playing and enjoying yourself. She will show you how to work out your community parties demonstrating various programs and stunts from the stage and will be glad to hold conferences with interested persons. Mrs. Lott will use the piano in most of her demonstrations and Miss Mildred Person of Ames will play all accompaniments.

Mrs. Helen Marr Van Tuyl—This year the plays produced in the Little Theatre in the Women and Children's Building will be under the personal direction of Mrs. Helen Marr Van Tuyl of the Dramatic Art Department of the Des Moines School of Fine Arts. She is a director of long experience and has been connected with the public schools of Des Moines for ten years prior to the establishing of her studio with the school of Arts. She has also been active in Dramatic productions in connection with the Des Moines Woman's Club and the Des Moines Drama Association. It is the aim of Mrs. Van Tuyl and her group of young players to present an interesting and practical program of one-act plays such as any rural community might produce effectively upon a small and simply equipped stage. Two plays will be produced each day and Mrs. Van Tuyl will gladly hold conferences with anyone desiring help or suggestions in regard to play production.

Miss Fannie Buchanan is a graduate of Grinnell College School of Music and has had post graduate work in New York and Chicago. She specializes in music and recreation. She is a lecturer for the Victor Talking Machine Company and has worked under the Extension service of Agricultural colleges in over thirty states. She is a writer of note and has had articles in Wallaces' Farmer and stories in Child Life Magazine. She has published plays in drama, and has written a book of child stories, "Sunny-Crest Farm Yard," which has had a splendid sale. An interesting article by Miss Buchanan appeared in the June issue of Better Homes and Gardens. She will come to us direct from Pennsylvania and will leave as soon as the Iowa State Fair closes for Springfield, Massachusetts, where she will have charge of the music for the Home Department of the Eastern States Exposition. On our program Miss Buchanan will give unusual and interesting demonstrations, both with music and without.

The Dancing program which is always a popular feature in the auditorium in the Women and Children's Building is being presented once more by the pupils of Marie Barnes Flanagan, of Des Moines. The program this year offers a varied number of dances, ranging from Plastique Grecian Movements, Stately Toe Classics, Fiery Gypsy and Spanish numbers to the novelty numbers of the present day which include the acrobatic, musical comedy and the ever popular clog routines. Authentic costumes designed by Mrs. Flanagan make each dance individual and charming. The appearance of children on these daily programs from towns outside of Des Moines make the program more interesting to State Fair visitors; Fort Dodge, Ames, Dallas Center, Prairie City and Newton are some of the cities represented.

Marie Barnes Flanagan was guest instructor at the Casino at Terrace Park, Lake Okoboji, for the first part of the summer. The latter part was spent in New York where she studied with some of the leading Dancing Masters of the country, such as Ned Wayburn, Denishawn, Mascagno, Creo Jack Blue, Cliff Jerome and others. We feel sure she is better prepared than ever to give us the very beautiful program of dances we always look forward to as the finish of our day's program.

Anyone appearing on the daily program will be glad to hold conferences with interested persons.

"A Night in Bagdad."

The spectacular night show presented in front of the Grandstand surpasses in splendor, size, and action, even the brilliant productions of former years. The audience will be carried back thousands of years in "A Night in Bagdad." The five hundred foot long panorama before which the story takes place is a reproduction of the Bagdad that existed when the Arabian Nights tales were first told. Mosques and minarets are outlined against the sky, while Arabian domes and the quaint Arabic arches figure in the architecture of nearly every building. Several hundred actors will take part in the spectacle representing the curious characters of the ancient city, with their colorful dress and quaint customs. The story reaches its climax when the good and evil genii battle on the mountain, and the entire mountain is destroyed in an earth-shaking clash of the opposing forces. Following the production, there will be a dazzling, thrilling, and beautiful display of fireworks.

The spectacular night show presented in front of the Grandstand surpasses in splendor, size, and action, even the brilliant productions of former years. The audience will be carried back thousands of years in "A Night in Bagdad." The five hundred-foot long panorama before which the story takes place is a reproduction of the Bagdad that existed when the Arabian Nights tales were first told. Mosques and minarets are outlined against the sky while Arabian domes and the quaint Arabic arches figure in the architecture of nearly every building. Several hundred actors will take part in the spectacle representing the curious characters of the ancient city, with their colorful dress and quaint customs. The story reaches its climax when the good and evil genii battle on the mountain, and the entire mountain is destroyed in an earth-shaking clash of the opposing forces. You will find your kind of cattle at Sioux City—the hardy native westerns that make money for the feeder.

Iowa buyers and feeders are quick to realize the advantages of this market. Favorable rates and train service to any destination.

DON'T FORGET the annual Sioux City Interstate Baby Beef Show and Sale September 12-13-14—also the thirteenth annual Sioux City Stocker and Feeder Show September 18-19-20, Both shows will be held at the stock-yards.

We will have our usual location just north of the cattle barns where our representatives will be glad to see you during the fair.
